Trust

ABAB

The world should be made of trust
Trust is love and trust is faith
A world of trust should be a must
If you trust, you will not ache

AABB

Oh, I trust to trust
For to trust is a must
But if you disagree
You may be full of greed

Trust

Oh trust, why do you fail me?
When I put my faith in you, oh, why does it often hurt me so bad?
I've been trying to trust you again, trust
But I just can't trust myself to do it
Every time I fail to trust you, the gap of mistrust between us grows
Oh, why is my life in shambles, without you trust?
I just can't seem to trust, but I want to so bad
Or is it that i can't trust myself to trust?
Who cant I trust?
The one who gives trust?
Or the one who receives it?
Oh, trust, thinking of you angers me so greatly
Because when I trust I often get so hurt
But when I don't I feel like something is missing
Oh why do I long for you, yet hate you?
Why do I crave you, yet have distaste for you?
Why do I love you, yet I can't stand you
So, I guess I will send some trust out to you
To try to save me from this miserable untrusting life I'm in
And I'll have to trust once again

Trust

Oh trust is beauty
For whoever trusts others
Has a heart of gold

Trust

There once was a man who would trust
And that for him was a must
He did it a lot
Never could not
And that's a man who can trust

Ode to Trust

*Oh trust, to you I say
What a gift to the world you are today
You unite nations
You warm hearts
You can even mend a broken heart
You never lie
You always pull through
I wonder what I would do without you
You're a promise strong and true
And no one could ever break you
You're what gives us hope
Even if there seems to be no hope
Oh what beauty you bring, dear trust
To everyone, everywhere, even those near us
You are like the peace keeper of the nations
You can end wars
Create faith
And prevent world domination
Oh trust, dear trust
What would we do
If we lived in a world without you
Would we fall to pieces?
Oh, trust you warm our hearts
You are an eternal fire warming us day and night
Oh trust, you will always guide us
And live on forever more*

Trust

Oh, there is a problem today
It is rather sad
Dare I say
It makes me really mad
It's a problem of trust
Who should I invest trust in
And who is not worthy of my trust
Oh, and I can begin
To release all my frustration
But what would that cause
It may cause others frustration
And maybe just ruin the cause
But, I can solve this crisis of trust
If you are willing to learn to trust

Trust

Oh i love to trust
For trust is so beautiful
It grows us strong bonds
Can bring people together
That is the beauty of trust
